A Short Article on Import

A. N. Author

1 Introduction

This is the first paragraph of a short article, typeset the way LaTeX does it. Every line is justified: the space between words varies from line to line, and kerning moves single letters by a few thousandths of an em, as in Word and Type. The last line of a paragraph is shorter.

A second paragraph starts with the same indent and runs over two lines so that the importer has to keep it apart from the first one.

$$E = mc^2$$

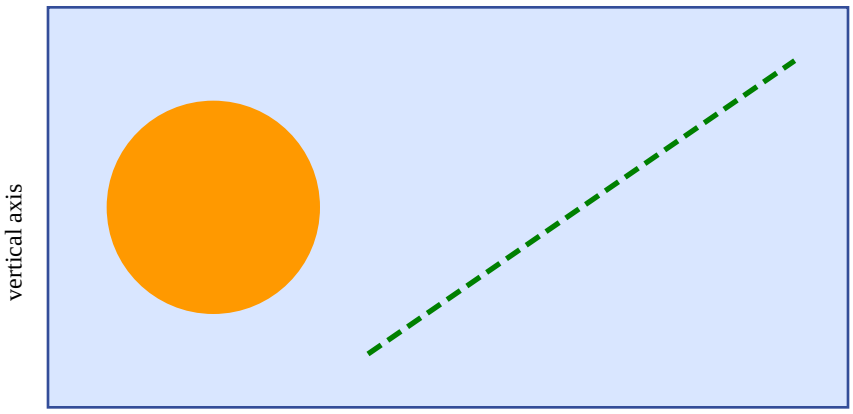

Figure 1: A box, a circle and a line.

1 A footnote in a smaller size.

2 Results

The second page has one more paragraph and a table drawn with rules.
Its cells are separate lines of text.

Name	Value
Pages	2